

BONUS BILL AND PEACE RESOLUTION IN HOUSE

HOTLY CONTESTED FIGHT UP ON BOTH MATTERS WITH CHANCES OF VOTE ON KNOX MEASURE GOOD THIS AFTERNOON

BONUS BILL STIRS UP FILIBUSTER

WASHINGTON, May 28—The House shortly after noon today began to consider a motion to override President Wilson's veto on the Knox peace resolution. Debate was limited and it is possible a vote will be reported before the day is ended.

A filibuster to force action on the soldier's bonus bill was started when the House met today. Representative Munsey of Ohio, refused to allow the chaplain to say the prayer until a quorum had been obtained. Other members said they would block action on the budget bill if the bonus bill was not brought up.

FIRST INDICTMENT RETURNED IN CONNECTION WITH BERGDOLL CASE

BALTIMORE, May 28—J. E. Romig, alias Howard Watt, of Philadelphia, was indicated today by the Federal Grand Jury for alleged connection with the efforts of Grover C. Bergdoll to evade the draft law. Lieut. Col. Collier of the adjutant general's department was before the grand jury today. The indictment was returned at noon.

AMERICAN WOOLEN COMPANY ARRAIGNMENT POSTPONED

NEW YORK, May 28—Arraignment of the American Woollen Company and Wm. Wood, President of the concern, in Federal court on charges of violating the Lever Act was postponed from today until 2 p. m. Tuesday. Charles Hughes, Jr., attorney for the company appeared in court and asked that the proceedings be postponed. He said his father who also represents the company had been engaged in other prosecutions and had not had time to confer with his clients.

IRISH CAUSE WILL GET SYMPATHY OF HOUSE

WASHINGTON, May 28—A resolution expressing the sympathy of the House "with the aspirations of the Irish people for a government of their own choice" was favorably reported by the Foreign Affairs committee today by a vote of 11 to 7. Plans are to ask action on the resolution in the House next week.

PALMER POSTPONES ANSWERING CHARGES

WASHINGTON, May 28—Attorney General Palmer today postponed his engagement to appear before the House Rules Committee to answer charges of mistreatment of aliens while being held for deportation brought against him by L. F. Post, Assistant Secretary of Labor.

SLAYER OF SISTER MAY GET TWENTY YEAR SENTENCE

NEW YORK, May 28—Maria Tucci, aged 20, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the killing of her sister, Mrs. Angelo Conti, will be sentenced on June 7. The maximum penalty is 20 years. The jury returned a verdict after 11 hours deliberation.

ONE PROFITEER GETS HIS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 28—Weeds, Inc., of Binghamton, N. Y. was found guilty of violation of the Lever act today and fined $31,000 by Judge Manton in Federal court. The verdict was reached after 17 hours deliberation.

PENNSYLVANIA MINER WILL BE DELEGATE TO GENEVA

WILKES BARRE, May 28—Thomas Kennedy of District No. 7, United Mine Workers of America and G. W. Savage of California will represent the miners of the United States at the world mining congress to be held at Geneva, Switzerland in August according to announcement made here today.

FAVOR EMBARGO ON SUGAR EXPORTS

WASHINGTON, May 28—The Senate Agriculture committee today ordered a favorable report on the McNary bill providing for an embargo on sugar exports. The committee believes this would reduce the retail price of the sugar.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS WILL PRESENT ANNUAL PLAY THIS EVENING

The Senior Class of the Clearfield High school will present the play entitled "Green stockings" at the High School auditorium tonight. The synopsis of the play guarantees some highly interesting situations and its presentation will afford a dozen or more of our talented High school seniors opportunity to display their histrionic talents.

The cast is as follows:

Madge, (Mrs. Rockingham) Mary Chase

Evelyn (Lady Trenchard) Gladys Cooper

Phyllis Faraday, the youngest sister Muriel Quigley

Mrs. Chisholm Faraday (Aunt Ida) Elizabeth Laurie

William Faraday, father of the girls Wendell Woodside

Celia Faraday, the unaffected eldest sister Anna Connelly

Admiral Grice, an old gentleman of about 65 Hazen Owens

Robert Tarvar an empty headed swell, in love with Phyllis Earl Philips

Henry Steele Clarence Toot

James Raleigh Eldon Reed

Martin, old family servant Carlton Rowles

Colonel Smith, just back from Somaliland Harry Cochran

A brief synopsis of the play is appended herewith:

Celia, the eldest of the four Faraday girls although witty and attractive, has been pitted and patronized because she had failed to capture a husband as soon as her younger sisters and because she has had to wear green stockings at their weddings.

Exasperated at last by their pity, she invents a lover and an engagement and at once is given admiration and consideration.

Everything goes well until Colonel Vavasour appears from Somaliland with the dying message of her fiancé, Colonel Smith. Then things begin to happen and at last Colonel Vavasour really becomes Colonel Smith and to make the story end happily, really becomes Celia's fiancé instead of an imaginary one.

SECOND MEETING OF NUTRITION CLASS HELD YESTERDAY

On Thursday afternoon, the second meeting of the Children's Nutrition class was held at the Junior High school building, and twenty-eight were present. One member was absent because he was having his tonsils removed.

Evelyn Cowdick won the gold star for making the greatest gain in weight, two pounds. Virginia Brown came second having gained one pound and ten ounces. The average gain was considerably below that amount. Most of the children report that they are drinking more milk, and almost all who used to drink tea and coffee, have stopped doing so.

The class was divided into two groups, and while each group was being weighed by Mrs. Reed, Miss Fletcher entertained the other children by telling them stories.

At the close of the class period, a short talk on the food value of milk was given to the children and then Miss Edna Hartsock and Miss Iva Livingston, from Miss Storm's class in Domestic science, gave each child a small serving of junket with custard sauce. The following recipe was used:

Note: All measures are taken level.

c equals cup; t equals teaspoon; tb equals tablespoon.

Junket

2c milk, 4tb sugar, ¼t vanilla; ½t junket tablet, 2t lukewarm water.

Heat milk until lukewarm; add sugar and flavoring. When sugar is dissolved, add the tablet dissolved in the lukewarm water. Pour immediately into cups or glasses. Let stand in warm room undisturbed until firm like jelly, then put in a cold place. Serve with cream and sugar or soft custard. Junket may be served in a variety of ways with fruit.

Note: In place of vanilla, cinnamon, nutmeg, chopped preserved ginger, coconut, cocoa or other flavors may be substituted.

Steamed Custard

Used as pudding sauce.

1c scalded milk; 2 yolks eggs; 2tb sugar; dash salt; flavoring. Beat eggs slightly and add sugar and salt. Add scalded milk in slowly stirring as you add it. Cook over hot water in double boiler until it coats the spoon. Add flavoring when removing from fire.

For flavoring one of the following may be used:

¼t vanilla or lemon extract; ¼t bitter almond extract; 2tb caramel or maple syrup in place of sugar; 2tb cocoa; 1 oz. chocolate let melt in scalded milk; 2tb coconut stirred into custard when partly cold.

W. P. LIVINGSTON'S FUNERAL

The remains of the late William P. Livingston will be brought to Clearfield from his late home in Chester, on Sunday evening or Monday morning next, and the funeral will be held Monday afternoon, May 31, at 2 o'clock, at the funeral home of J. H. Smith, 101 N. 1st St., Clearfield.

Livingston's son Donald has been living in California and the funeral is being delayed until he is able to get home.

Harold Smith and Miss Margaret Hule, of Curwensville, attended the show at the Driggs Theatre last evening.

TUGGI PLEAD GUILTY TO MANSLAUGHTER IN COURT YESTERDAY

Angelo Tucci, the Curwensville boarding house proprietor, who was placed on trial Wednesday afternoon for complicity in the murder of Temistocle Cavaterra at Curwensville on December 6th last, brought the trial to a sudden end about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the attorneys for the defense arose and asked leave to withdraw their plea of not guilty and enter one of guilty to voluntary manslaughter. Tucci was charged with having supplied Pistilli with the revolver with which he killed Cavaterra and counseled the killing.

The jury was chosen and the Commonwealth's testimony about all in when the end came. The District Attorney offered the testimony of Pistilli at his trial as a part of the evidence against Tucci and the defense objected to its admission. It was admitted by Judge Bell's ruling and as that testimony clinched the case for the prosecution, the defense wilted and sought the best terms they could get.

COUNTY COMMITTEE OF AMERICAN LEGION MET HERE YESTERDAY

An important meeting of the County Committee of the American Legion was held yesterday afternoon here. Members of the Committee were in attendance from Clearfield, Curwensville, Osceola, Irwona and DuBois, as well as Athletic representatives from the several posts. Thomas Harrigan, of the DuBois Post, the County Athletic Director, was here and it was decided to start the base ball season on Saturday, June 19, and a schedule of twenty games will be drawn up next week. The matter of a County Convention was also taken up and it was decided that July 5, the day for celebrating the 4th this year, would be too large a day locally to get many men to go to one town. Clearfield asked for the convention during Fair Week in September.

SLASHER OF WARDENS DRAWS THREE TO SIX YEAR PRISON SENTENCE

Tony Cherillo, of Morristown, who was convicted of assault with intent to murder State Game Protector W. J. Davis, of Clearfield, was sentenced this morning by Judge Bell to pay a fine of $1,000, costs of prosecution and undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than three nor more than six years.

Judge Bell also directed District Attorney Arnold to notify the prison authorities of Cherillo's physical and mental failings in the past, in order that he may be carefully looked after.

Sentence in the cases of Clementi Pistilli and Angelo Tucci, convicted of the murder of Temistocle Cavaterra, will be imposed on June 21st.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED

Earl E. Bowes and Miss Gertrude Daugherty two of Clearfield's most popular young people surprised their many friends last evening by quietly slipping up to St. Francis parsonage, where the Rev. M. A. Ryan said the words which united them in the holy bonds of wedlock.

The attendants were Miss Ruth Daugherty sister of the bride and William Fehl.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a suit of dark blue serge, with hat to match, the bridesmaid also wore a dark blue suit. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Daugherty of Fourth street, and is a popular young lady, endowed with all necessary graces and virtues to fill the ideal home with happiness.

The groom is the eldest

The C. C. A. A. is about ready to spring a big surprise. A bangup baseball team has been signed up for this season and when the names are announced Clearfield baseball fans will feel assured of good baseball this summer.

The acquisition of a portion of the oval at the Driving Park by the Clearfield Public School Athletic Association is a step in the right direction. It is the one thing that was required to round out our public school equipment. Physical training and athletics are playing a greater part than ever in the development of our young people. We predict that whatever events are staged in the park by the public school kiddoes will be largely attended.

The malicious and thoughtless destruction of shade trees, lawns and flower beds along the streets of the borough has given property owners a great deal of worry in the last year or two and every citizen should lend his efforts to the prosecution of the first fellow who oversteps the bounds of propriety. If you see property being destroyed, report it to the owner or the police immediately. It is the only way the pernicious practice can be broken up.

More delegates will sit in the Democratic national convention than at the Republican conclave in Chicago. That is due to the fact that the Democrats permit delegates from southern states to be larger than Republican delegations are. Also the Democrats allow Alaska and our insular possessions to have six delegates each, as compared to three admitted by the Republicans. At Chicago there will be 981 delegates and at San Francisco 1092. By the majority Republican rule 493 are necessary to a choice; by the two-thirds rule the Democrats require 728.

That unanimity of purpose so much desired and long sought for in religious work seems to have been set back somewhat by the withdrawal of the Presbyterian denomination from the active affairs of the Interchurch World Movement. We regret to see this step taken and yet it appears to have been necessary for someone to bring the national leaders of the movement to their senses. The Interchurch World Movement was launched with a lavish expenditure of money, a la circus style, and seems to have been conducted by the same methods ever since. While from a denominational standpoint the withdrawal of the Presbyterians from the movement was because of the "preferential" attitude to another denomination, this in itself would not be sufficient cause. Underlying this was the extravagance of the leaders and the methods they employed to bring their cause before the public. The movement was intended to awaken all peoples to a sense of appreciation of the church and its workers, enlist their support in a bigger, broader religious program and advance the gospel. In the abstract, it was purely a case of publicity and nothing else. The first move of the leaders was to have thousands of tons of "boiler plate" news prepared for the newspapers to print "free" although the publicity agents hired received immense sums for writing it. Ninety per cent. of the publicity was not information or even interesting but purely bunk which would have been superfluous to the present day newspaper column yet good money was paid for it. The leaders presumed on the ability of the small newspaper to print all of it "free." They had their local agents call on us with the request that we print it "free."

Newspapers are always willing to help in any good cause and never lose an opportunity to do so but a newspaper must have the use of its own columns to sell. They will always meet any proposition more than half way but the Interchurch World Movement has already been the most expensive proposition the newspapers ever tried to boost.

The old time merchant used to give a pair of suspenders with a new suit and was willing to do it. The Interchurch World Movement tried to get the suit by the purchase of a pair of suspenders.

Send In That Red Envelope NOW

Your Hard Working Heart

By Lee H. Smith, M. D.

The heart is a wonderful double pump, through the action of which the blood stream is kept sweeping round and round through the body, at the rate of seven miles an hour.

A healthy stomach turns the food we eat into nourishment for the blood stream and the nerves. No one suffers from colds or catarrh who has plenty of red blood corpuscles and a good digestion. Catarrh in all its forms is a stagnation of the blood. Introduce pure red blood into the system, and health is assured. Dr. Pierce, over fifty years ago, gave to the public an alternative and blood tonic which he named his "Golden Medical Discovery." It is sold by all druggists the world over in tablets or liquid, and is just the thing to put the body in the best of condition. It is a tonic, alternative and nerve, which contains no alcohol, and has the ingredients printed on the label. "Golden Medical Discovery" assists the digestive functions, assimilating the food and taking from it what is necessary for feeding the blood. Thus the blood takes on a new vigor and vitality. This corrective remedy nature put in the forest for keeping us healthy. One feels strong, vigorous and full of pep, instead of weak, nervous and "played out." Send 10c for trial pkg. of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., or, send for a free medical booklet on any disease or free medical advice.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Teacher of English Bible in the Moody
Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

LESSON FOR MAY 30

JONATHAN AND HIS ARMOR-BEARER.

LESSON TEXT—I Sam. 14:1-46.
GOLDEN TEXT—For the promise is unto you and your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.—Acts 2:39.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—I Sam. 13:1-23.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Story of a Brave Prince.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How Two Men Put an Army to Flight.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Our Foes and How to Overcome Them.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Value of Initiative in Christian Work.

I. Israel's Reduced Condition (vv. 1-9).

The Philistine oppression had become so terrible that the king had only about 400 men, and they were completely disarmed, except that Saul and Jonathan had each a sword and spear. Lest the Israelites should make unto themselves swords and spears the Philistines took from them their smiths; they only left them a file to sharpen their instruments of husbandry. This left them under the necessity of going to the Philistines to have their tools sharpened. Saul himself was in hiding. Because he had presumptuously intruded into the priest's office God rejected him. While in this desperate condition God moved Jonathan to go against the Philistines.

II. Description of the Passageway Between Israel and the Philistines (vv. 4, 5).

Over against the way which Jonathan and his armorbearer had to traverse, on either side lay sharp rocks called Bozez and Sennah. The opposing camps were probably three miles apart. It required great effort to scale the cliff. The feat of Jonathan and his armorbearer was one of the most daring ever attempted.

III. Jonathan's Resolution to Go Against the Philistines (vv. 6-10).

1. Jonathan's summons to the young man (v. 6). Here the thought of verse one is resumed, verses two to five being parenthetical. Jonathan did not doubt but that the Lord was leading him. He recognized his covenant relationship with God, and therefore his claim upon him as against the uncircumcised Philistines, asserting that "there is no restraint to the Lord to save by many or by few." God is all-powerful, so with him numbers cut no figure. Whatever he wills for us he can do. One with God is a majority. (Deut. 32:39).

2. The noble response of his armorbearer (v. 7). He was actuated by the same faith and courage as Jonathan and entered heartily into the undertaking. When two agree together as touching anything in the name of Christ it shall be done (Matt. 18:19, 20).

3. Watching for the will of God (vv. 8-10). Doubtless the same Spirit who had moved Jonathan to go had instructed him to watch for the Divine leading. The sign that God would deliver the Philistines into their hands was the invitation for Jonathan and his companion to come up to the Philistines. They did not go forward until the sign of divine leading was given.

IV. Jonathan's Marvelous Victory (vv. 11-19).

Being assured of the divine leading, Jonathan with his armorbearer sprang forward saying that the Lord had delivered the enemy into the hands of Israel. He did not say "into our hands," but "into the hands of Israel." This is a fine touch of humility; it shows that it was zeal for God, not selfish ambition that impelled him to go forth. God interposed by a great earthquake, causing consternation among the Philistines, moving them to destroy each other.

V. Saul's Foolish Behavior (vv. 17-46).

1. His carnal zeal (vv. 17-23). After the Lord had given the victory at the hands of Jonathan, Saul called for the ark of God to be brought, after which he went forth in pursuit of the enemy who had already been routed.

2. His foolish obligation imposed (vv. 24-30). It was that a curse would be upon any one of his soldiers who should stop to eat on that day. Fast-ing is proper at times, but it was the height of folly to demand strenuous service of his soldiers without the necessary nourishment.

3. His determination to kill Jonathan. Jonathan not having heard this rash oath, partook of the honey as he passed through the woods and was greatly refreshed. When this was reported to Saul he was about to take the life of his own son, who had so gloriously wrought in the deliverance of his people.

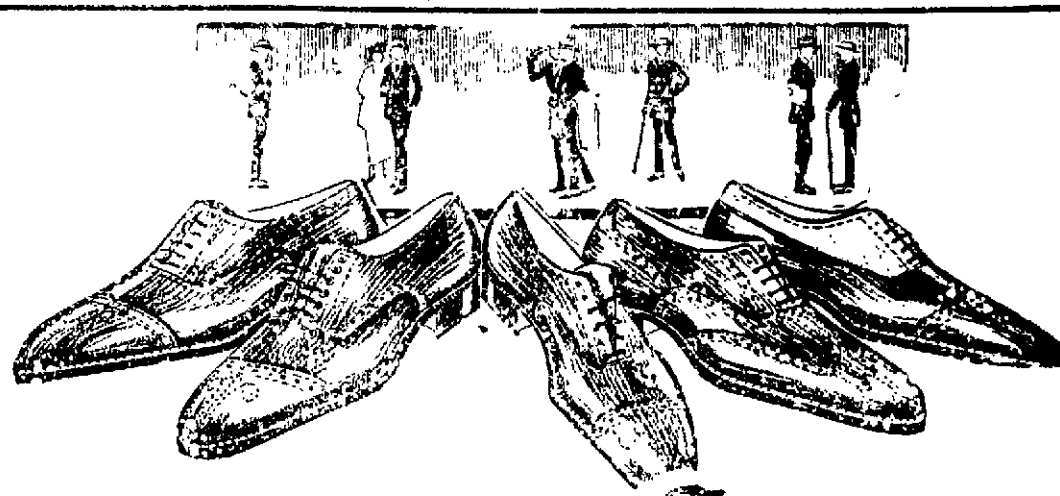

Evidence of Things Unseen.
No pure and simple life, true to itself, true to its maker, was ever lived on this earth that was not a voice on God's behalf, however still and small and that did not, in its sincere and humble way, declare a hope and reveal a faith which might well be the evidence of things unseen.—Alexander Gordon.

Doing Evil Deeds.
The disposition to do an evil deed is of itself a terrible punishment of the deed it does.—C. M. H. May.

Miss Jessie Banta entertained her friends last evening in honor of her cousin, Miss Gladys Matthews, of Chicago.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM WARING

William Waring, who died at his home in Plymouthville on Saturday, May 22, 1920, was the son of the late Samuel and Susan Shimmel Waring, pioneer settlers of the Morris township section of Clearfield county. He was born at Morrisdale in May, 1834, and was therefore 86 years of age at the time of his death. He resided on the old Waring homestead at Morrisdale until 1906, when he brought his family to Clearfield, and had since resided here.

He was an industrious man and a good citizen in every sense of the word. About two years ago he had the misfortune to fracture one of his legs at up to that time had enjoyed the best of rugged health. Death was due to the combined troubles incident to old age.

During the past winter Mr. Waring acted as a court tip-staff. He enjoyed his respect and esteem of a large circle of friends in this section, and while a resident of Morris, was called upon to serve in the different offices of trust and responsibility in the township. He discharged every obligation with that honesty and carefulness which marked all his transactions and is properly described as an honest man.

He was married to Margaret Williams, daughter of Jesse and Sara Williams, of Centre county, and to his union was born eight children, five of whom died in infancy. He is survived by his widow and three daughters, viz: Lillian V., wife of Rev. M. O. Watt, of Mars, Pa.; Nancy B., wife of Harry Bunnell, of Clearfield; and Mrs. Martha Rowles, of Olanta. A son, Jesse F. Waring, was killed in a railroad accident in 1909, and George W., another son, was accidentally shot at Broughton, Pa. in 1917. Two brothers and one sister also survive him. They are Deane H. of Morrisdale; John, of Hagon; and Mrs. Elizabeth Sullivan, of Morrisdale.

The funeral occurred from his home on May 26, interment being made in it, Joy cemetery.

ARMY RECRUITING OFFICER HERE

Sergeant Victor L. Allen, an U. S. army recruiting officer from Tyrone, Pa., in Clearfield yesterday on business for Uncle Sam's army. Sergeant Allen is running a "trouble" or "recruiting" station at Tyrone, Pa., as he styles it, a "kick" station.

This "kick bureau" is so styled from the fact that Sergeant Allen is being directed by the War Department to collect and receive "kicks" from former service men, and he has already handled quite a number of complaints.

Any former service man who has not received his $30 discharge bonus, we sent a mile return fire, a uniform, gas mask, had his insurance or liberty bond looked after, or any other trouble that needs rectifying, can have everything smoothed out by writing or calling on Sergeant Allen at the First National Bank Building, Tyrone.

He is also securing one year enlistments for the engineers, air service, cavalry and coast artillery.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A large number of the friends of Mrs. M. S. Thompson tendered that lady a very pleasant birthday party at her home on Pine street yesterday afternoon and evening. The day was most pleasantly spent and delicious refreshments enjoyed.

The out-of-town guests were: Mrs. James Derrick and son, of Kent, Ohio, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Murray on Ogden avenue.

Makes Hard Work EASY

Mechanics Perfected This Hammer

MECHANICS everywhere are talking about the Plumb Ball Pein-Hammer. In daily service in countless shops thousands of these hammers are showing their superiority. This hammer was made for mechanics by mechanics.

To perfect the design of this Plumb Hammer, from the standpoint of the user, models were sent to mechanics in railroad and machine shops—in locomotive works—everywhere that hammers could be tested in the most exacting way.

Machinists' Suggestions

One mechanic suggested the "off centre" head with the weight in a chunk right back of the broad striking face—to give accuracy and force to the blow.

Another mechanic pointed out the ball should be cone shaped to spread a rivet and not mash it. A third suggested an oblong "eye" to enable a wider and stronger handle. A fourth made it plain that a longer eye would give greater "purchase" and would strengthen the tool at its weakest point, viz., the "eye," while a fifth advised the "taper" in the handle away from the thick stock in the eye to give "spring" to take up the jar and the further comfort grip with "swell" in the end of the handle to make the handle rest naturally and easily in the hand and so make hard work easy.

There are actual facts connected with the "Double Life" quality of Plumb Tools—these are the solid basis for every good workman's saving about Plumb Tools—"They're worth more."

We sell the full line of Plumb Tools, Hammers, Hatchets, Axes and Sledges.

Was Old Rufus Gaston the master mind? Where was he?

CHAPTER XI.

Fortunately for me, there had recently been a wave of public criticism of the courts for the long delays in bringing criminal cases to trial, and the district attorney was moving with all celerity to bring my case to a conclusion. An indictment against me for the murder of Daisy Lutan had been quickly found and the date had been already set for the trial—one week hence—so that the period of my incarceration and doubt as to my ultimate fate seemed likely to be very brief.

Utterly absurd as the situation was, accused of murdering a woman whom I never had seen and hardly had heard of until I saw her lying dead in her apartment, conscious as I was of my entire innocence in the matter, still, as in the solitude of my cell I reviewed the case, I found myself facing the ordeal of a trial for murder with considerable apprehension.

Circumstances certainly looked much against me. There was absolutely no way in which I could refute the testimony of the two detectives that they had found the revolver with one chamber discharged in the drawer of my dresser. I myself had seen them find it. While McGraw still held that there was a possibility that they themselves had put it there, I knew that neither of them had been near the dresser after I had admitted them to my rooms. The only person whom I had the slightest ground for suspecting was Claire Bradford, yet what motive could she have had?

Wick undoubtedly would testify that he had met me at the door of the Lutan apartment directly after he had heard the shot. He might say that I appeared to be greatly excited. This would be the exact truth. There was even the possibility that he might swear that he had found me coming out of Miss Lutan's apartment. Even if he did not make the statement direct, shrewd questioning on the part of the district attorney could easily make it appear that I had just left the Lutan apartment. How could we possibly controvert his testimony?

Then, in addition, there were the damning statements that would be offered by Nellie Kelly. She would swear that the evening before I had taken her out to dinner and had been questioning her about the other tenants in the house. Even though we knew that she was a fool of Wick and was the wife of Lefty Moore, the burglar, unless Gorman was able to discover that she herself had a criminal record, it seemed utterly hopeless to attempt to controvert her statements.

It would also militate against me that at the time of the murder I was out of a job and almost without funds. They were likely, too, to bring out the fact that I had been discreditably discharged from the only position I had held in New York. The only man who knew anything about the matter, Mr. Wood, the head of the firm, had been suddenly called to France in connection with an order for munitions, and was not expected to return for several months. The fact would weigh against me, too, that I would be unable to offer the testimony of any character witnesses. Birge and Butler, my classmates with whom I had roomed ever since I had come to New York, were "somewhere in France" with the American troops and could not possibly aid me.

All of this was pointed out to me by John McGregor, a young attorney whom Gorman had employed for me. While Gorman and I had, I think, succeeded in convincing him of my innocence, the fact that he was continually citing the difficulties in the way of our proving it made me realize that he was very dubious as to the outcome.

The trouble was that we were absolutely without witnesses. Old Rufus Gaston's whereabouts still remained a mystery. If we could discover him in time, we could at least explain satisfactorily my presence in the Grand-dock and could establish that I was not the homeless, penniless vagrant they would try to prove me. The longer old Rufus remained in hiding, the stronger became my suspicion that he might be in some way involved in the plot. His action in keeping his address a secret from me seemed to have been with deliberate intent.

After some discussion Gorman and I had agreed not to mention either of the Bradford girls.

"If one word about either of them slips out in court," said Gorman, "they'll be in for it. The papers will jump to it and print their pictures and all that. We'd better leave them out of it."

With this I heartily concurred. I was determined that Barbara Bradford must be in no way involved, come what may. I knew that she herself would be apt to be restrained from attempting to communicate with me by the fact that her sister's marriage was set for the day after tomorrow. Her loyalty to her family was such that she would not risk scandal by trying to aid me, at least not until her sister was married and the future for Claire and her mother assured.

Two small rays of sunshine lightened the gloom of my cell—the fact that the newspaper mention of the tragedy seemed thus a ray to have escaped my mother's notice and the fact that Barbara still believed in my innocence and trusted me absolutely.

A day or two after my arrest Gorman had managed to see her and had told her that it was my wish that she keep entirely quiet her knowledge of the affair and that she should make no attempt whatever to communicate with me while I was in prison. He had brought back with him a hastily penciled note which often in my cell I read and re-read:

"Dear Mr. Nelson:
"I'm so sorry to hear of your trouble and the absurd charges against you. I'll do whatever you wish, of course. I trust you absolutely. If anything I can tell will aid you at any time, I am ready to speak—cost what it may. I know you are innocent and must soon be freed. Hoping to see you,
"With all confidence,
"B. B."

Each time I read anew the penciled lines, my heart rejoiced. "Come what may, I felt sure that Barbara's heart was mine. I joyed to know that come out of prison to her though I might, she would be glad to see me. Joyfully would I have gone to the electric chair rather than have her fair name in the least smirched by scandal in trying to defend me. She alone could prove an alibi for me, but no one must ever know it.

What would a scandal-loving world say if the fact became public that she had been alone with me in my apartment near midnight? If only by the sacrifice of her good name could I go free, then let me stay in my cell. Let me even go to the electric chair. I would not have my life at the loss of my beloved's reputation.

One other thing I had kept from my lawyer—my discovery of the passage-way between the walls in my great-uncle's apartment. If I could not get Gorman to believe in this secret passage, which I was convinced had some connection with the mysteries and the whisperings at the Granddock, there was little likelihood that McGregor would believe my tale either. Given one single hour in my quarters at the Granddock and I would have discovered whether it led and who used it, but once a man is charged with murder, his hands are tied. It was futile for me to mention it again, even to the detective or to my lawyer, until such time as I could show it to them and convince them that I knew what I was talking about.

While I was debating the situation in my cell, a keeper opened the door. "You're wanted downstairs," he announced.
"What is it?" I asked, wonderingly.
"You've got a visitor."
"Who?" I questioned eagerly. Could it, I wondered, be Barbara? Had my sternly repressed longing to see her in some way communicated itself to her through the ether and impelled her to throw caution to the winds and come to the prison to see me?
"I don't know," the keeper answered. "It's a man. I don't know who he is."

A man. Who could it be? In all the monotonous time I had been behind the bars, only two men had come to see me, Gorman and McGregor. It could not be either of them, for both were well known to the prison attendants. As I hastened down the long corridor past the dismal row of barred doors, I was revolving in my mind the possibilities of my caller's identity.

Who could it be? Spurred on by my curiosity, I hastened into the counsel room. There sat my great-uncle Rufus.

He looked in much better physical condition than when I had last seen him, more vigorous and healthier. His skin was browned from exposure to the sun and wind, and his eyes were

PRESBYTERIANS ARE NOT IN SYMPATHY WITH INTERCHURCH

Acting upon a plan submitted by its executive commission the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America meeting in the Academy of Music, yesterday voted to terminate its relationship with the Interchurch World Movement, declined to incur any further financial obligation for the Interchurch World Movement as now organized and controlled and withdrew its representation.

The General Assembly authorized the executive commission to "take immediate steps" to provide for the payment by the Presbyterian church of the amount underwritten by the new era committee—approximately $1,000,000—and to give official notice to the Interchurch World Movement, the new era committee and the boards and agencies of the church of this action.

$100,000 Given to Movement

In order to soften the harshness of the withdrawal, and to give the Interchurch World Movement, an opportunity to recuperate, the assembly voted to contribute to the Interchurch "when properly organized," the sum of $100,000 in quarterly installments during the year 1920-1921 to be used for the payment of its expenses and for no other purpose. The $100,000 is not to be paid until the Interchurch Movement "has been organized so as to insure an efficient and economical administration of its affairs," and not until it adopts a budget for 1920-21 of $1,000,000, or less, exclusive of interest charges.

Following the great debate last Tuesday, when opposition to the Executive Commission's plan to withdraw from the Interchurch compelled the commission to reconsider and present a new plan, the commission brought in two plans yesterday, known as plan A, and plan B, to deal with the situation. Plan A provided for the withdrawal of the Presbyterian church without any prospect being offered of coming in again. Plan B, which was adopted, provides that the Presbyterian church will continue relations with the Interchurch, upon a restricted scale, providing the Interchurch assents to a satisfactory reorganization of its governing board and a gigantic cut in its expenditures.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

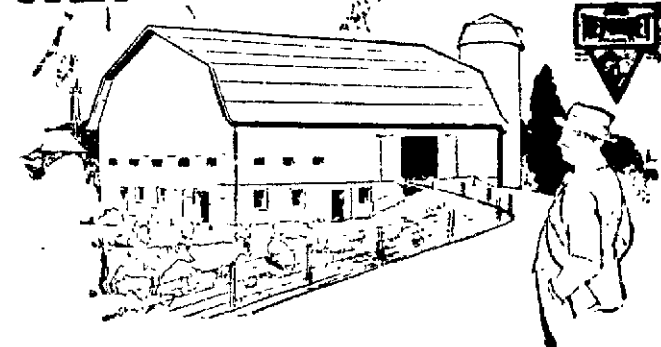

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns leaves behind incombustible ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins, and ptomaine-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before breakfast each morning drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the bowels the previous day's poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, or who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, borborygmi, rheumatic stiffness or have a sour, gassy stomach are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

NEPONSET ROOFS

ROLL ROOFINGS

When you buy roofing be sure you get the best roofing made. It costs but a little more than "hurry-up" roofing. Measured by the years of service it gives, NEPONSET Paroid is dollars and cents economy. Two million square feet of Paroid made good at Panama. Paroid is used by the United States Department of Agriculture. Paroid is used as roofing and siding on thousands of barns, cribs, poultry houses, garages, and homes. For more than twenty years Paroid has been protecting cattle, crops, equipment, and homes from rain and sleet, sun and snow—at lowest cost. Slate-surfaced, red and green.

Here is the line of roll roofings made by BIRD & SON, inc.:

NEPONSET Paroid Roofing, gray, and red and green slate-surfaced.
American Ready Roofing, smooth and slate-surfaced.
Granitized Roofing, green mineral surfaced.

Take Salts To Flush Kidneys

Eat less meat if you feel Backache or Bladder troubles you—Salts is fine for kidneys

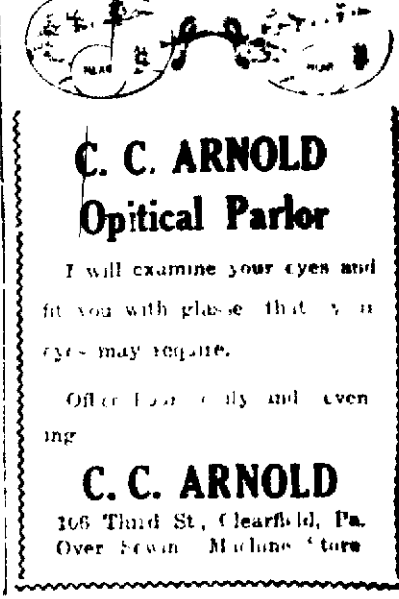

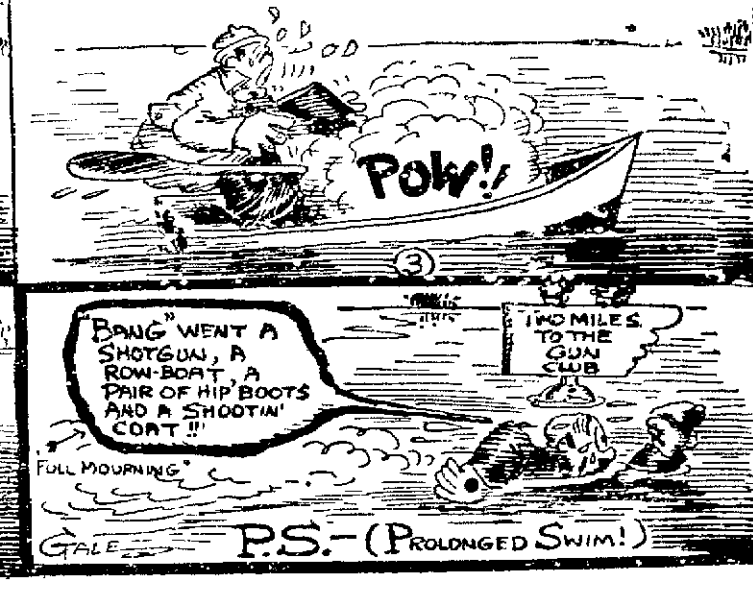

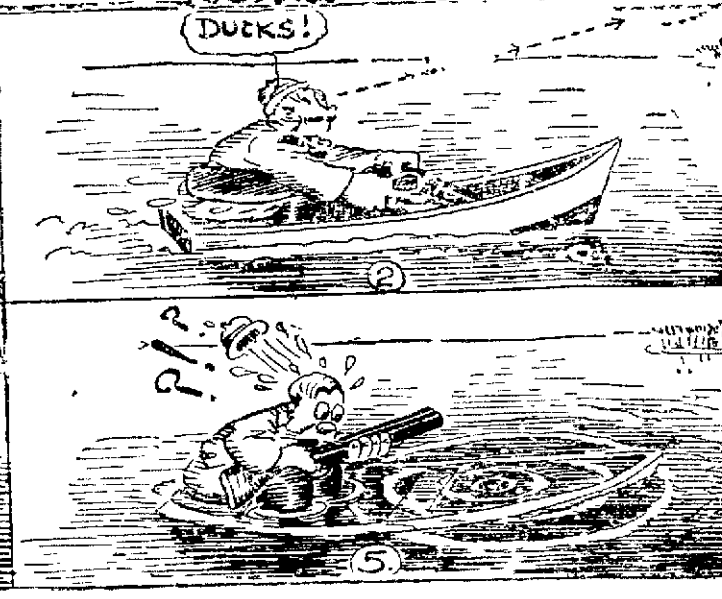

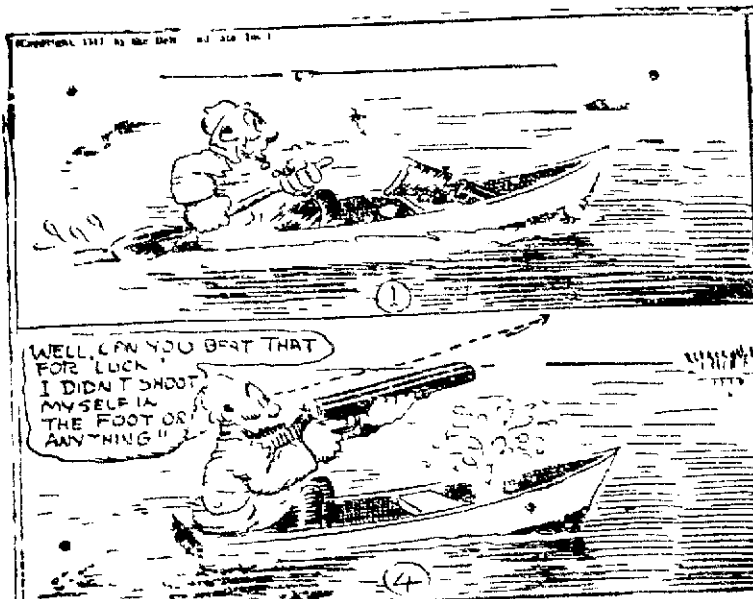

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eating of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels removing all the acids, waste, and poison else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste eat about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. These famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidney and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salt is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then thus insuring serious kidney and bladder diseases.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with a comb and the effect was marvelous. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it is so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of dandruff.

BONUS BILL AND PEACE RESOLUTION IN HOUSE

HOTLY CONTESTED FIGHT UP ON BOTH MATTERS WITH CHANCES OF VOTE ON KNOX MEASURE GOOD THIS AFTERNOON

BONUS BILL STIRS UP FILIBUSTER

WASHINGTON, May 28—The House shortly after noon today began to consider a motion to override President Wilson's veto on the Knox peace resolution. Debate was limited and it is possible a vote will be reported before the day is ended.

A filibuster to force action on the soldier's bonus bill was started when the House met today. Representative Munsey of Ohio, refused to allow the chaplain to say the prayer until a quorum had been obtained. Other members said they would block action on the budget bill if the bonus bill was not brought up.

NEW YORK, May 28—Arraignment of the American Woollen Company and Wm. Wood, President of the concern, in Federal court on charges of violating the Lever Act was postponed from today until 2 p. m. Tuesday. Charles Hughes, Jr., attorney for the company appeared in court and asked that the proceedings be postponed. He said his father who also represents the company had been engaged in other prosecutions and had not had time to confer with his clients.

IRISH CAUSE WILL GET SYMPATHY OF HOUSE

WASHINGTON, May 28—A resolution expressing the sympathy of the House "with the aspirations of the Irish people for a government of their own choice" was favorably reported by the Foreign Affairs committee today by a vote of 11 to 7. Plans are to ask action on the resolution in the House next week.

PALMER POSTPONES ANSWERING CHARGES

WASHINGTON, May 28—Attorney General Palmer today postponed his engagement to appear before the House Rules Committee to answer charges of mistreatment of aliens while being held for deportation brought against him by L. F. Post, Assistant Secretary of Labor.

SLAYER OF SISTER MAY GET TWENTY YEAR SENTENCE

NEW YORK, May 28—Maria Tucci, aged 20, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the killing of her sister, Mrs. Angelo Conti, will be sentenced on June 7. The maximum penalty is 20 years. The jury returned a verdict after 11 hours deliberation.

ONE PROFITEER GETS HIS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 28—Weeds, Inc., of Binghamton, N. Y. was found guilty of violation of the Lever act today and fined $31,000 by Judge Manton in Federal court. The verdict was reached after 17 hours deliberation.

PENNSYLVANIA MINER WILL BE DELEGATE TO GENEVA

WILKES BARRE, May 28—Thomas Kennedy of District No. 7, United Mine Workers of America and G. W. Savage of California will represent the miners of the United States at the world mining congress to be held at Geneva, Switzerland in August according to announcement made here today.

FAVOR EMBARGO ON SUGAR EXPORTS

WASHINGTON, May 28—The Senate Agriculture committee today ordered a favorable report on the McNary bill providing for an embargo on sugar exports. The committee believes this would reduce the retail price of the sugar.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS WILL PRESENT ANNUAL PLAY THIS EVENING

The Senior Class of the Clearfield High school will present the play entitled "Green stockings" at the High School auditorium tonight. The synopsis of the play guarantees some highly interesting situations and its presentation will afford a dozen or more of our talented High school seniors opportunity to display their histrionic talents.

The cast is as follows:

Madge, (Mrs. Rockingham) Mary Chase

Evelyn (Lady Trenchard) Gladys Cooper

Phyllis Faraday, the youngest sister Muriel Quigley

Mrs. Chisholm Faraday (Aunt Ida) Elizabeth Laurie

William Faraday, father of the girls Wendell Woodside

Celia Faraday, the unaffected eldest sister Anna Connelly

Admiral Grice, an old gentleman of about 65 Hazen Owens

Robert Tarvar an empty headed swell, in love with Phyllis Earl Philips

Henry Steele Clarence Toot

James Raleigh Eldon Reed

Martin, old family servant Carlton Rowles

Colonel Smith, just back from Somaliland Harry Cochran

A brief synopsis of the play is appended herewith:

Celia, the eldest of the four Faraday girls although witty and attractive, has been pitted and patronized because she had failed to capture a husband as soon as her younger sisters and because she has had to wear green stockings at their weddings. Exasperated at last by their pity, she invents a lover and an engagement and at once is given admiration and consideration.

Everything goes well until Colonel Vavasour appears from Somaliland with the dying message of her fiancé, Colonel Smith. Then things begin to happen and at last Colonel Vavasour really becomes Colonel Smith and to make the story end happily, really becomes Celia's fiancé instead of an imaginary one.

OVAL AT DRIVING PARK WILL BE ATHLETIC FIELD FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

The Clearfield Public Schools Athletic Association, an organization of school officials and public spirited citizens of the town, have entered into a lease with the Clearfield Park Association for the taking over of the oval in the center of the driving park as a field for school and other athletic events.

Under the terms of the lease the grounds will be graded and improved to accommodate all the athletic activities of the young people of the town. The improvement will be started next week and when completed the space provided will contain a baseball diamond, football field, soccer court, swimming pool and several different tennis courts.

The proposed improvements are estimated to cost approximately $6,000, and while the work is being done by and for the Clearfield Public Schools Athletic Association, and is for the use of the public school pupils, not one cent of school money will be used in making this improvement, the entire amount being contributed for the purpose by public spirited citizens of the town, who are willing to invest a few dollars for the enjoyment and betterment of Clearfield's young people.

The work of grading and improving the grounds will be done under the direction of Joseph E. Phillips, Secretary of the Clearfield County Agricultural Society.

The officers of the Clearfield Public Schools Athletic Association are as follows:

Committee on Improvements Messrs. C. T. Kurtz, George E. Zerfoss and A. W. Lee, Jr.

Finance Committee Messrs. A. W. Lee, Jr. and C. T. Kurtz.

Equipment Committee C. L. Kopp, V. B. Hickey and Ed. Butler.

Grounds Committee George E. Zerfoss and C. L. Kopp.

Publicity Committee V. B. Hickey and George E. Zerfoss.

Schedule Committee S. W. Ventres.

SECOND MEETING OF NUTRITION CLASS HELD YESTERDAY

On Thursday afternoon, the second meeting of the Children's Nutrition class was held at the Junior High school building, and twenty-eight were present. One member was absent because he was having his tonsils removed.

Evelyn Cowdick won the gold star for making the greatest gain in weight, two pounds. Virginia Brown came second having gained one pound and ten ounces. The average gain was considerably below that amount. Most of the children report that they are drinking more milk, and almost all who used to drink tea and coffee, have stopped doing so.

The class was divided into two groups, and while each group was being weighed by Mrs. Reed, Miss Fletcher entertained the other children by telling them stories.

At the close of the class period, a short talk on the food value of milk was given to the children and then Miss Edna Hartsock and Miss Iva Livingston, from Miss Storm's class in Domestic science, gave each child a small serving of junket with custard sauce. The following recipe was used:

Note: All measures are taken level.

c equals cup; t equals teaspoon; tb equals tablespoon.

Junket 2c milk, 4tb sugar, ¼t vanilla; ½ junket tablet, 2t luke warm water.

Heat milk until lukewarm; add sugar and flavoring. When sugar is dissolved, add the tablet dissolved in the luke warm water. Pour immediately into cups or glasses. Let stand in warm room undisturbed until firm like jelly, then put in a cold place. Serve with cream and sugar or soft custard. Junket may be served in a variety of ways with fruit.

Note: In place of vanilla, cinnamon, nutmeg, chopped preserved ginger, coconut, cocoa or other flavors may be substituted.

Steamed Custard

Used as pudding sauce. 1c scalded milk; 2 yolks eggs; 2tb sugar; dash salt; flavoring. Beat eggs slightly and add sugar and salt. Add scalded milk in slowly stirring as you add it. Cook over hot water in double boiler until it coats the spoon. Add flavoring when removing from fire.

For flavoring one of the following may be used:

¼t vanilla or lemon extract; ¼t bitter almond extract; 2tb caramel or maple syrup in place of sugar; 2tb cocoa; 1 oz. chocolate let melt in scalded milk; 2tb coconut stirred into custard when partly cold.

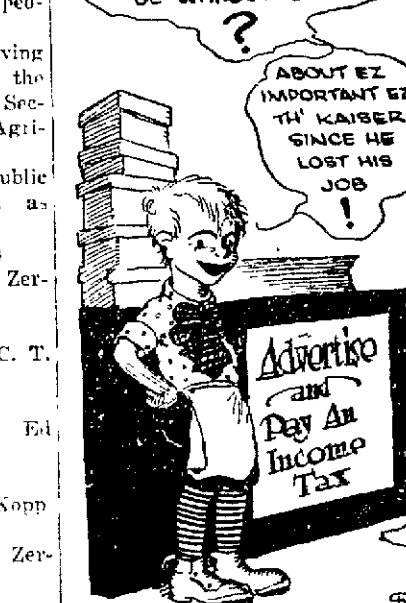

W. P. LIVINGSTON'S FUNERAL

The remains of the late William P. Livingston will be brought to Clearfield from his late home in Chester, on Sunday evening or Monday morning next, and the funeral will be held Monday afternoon. Mr. Livingston's son Donald has been living in California and the funeral is being delayed until he is able to get home.

Harold Smith and Miss Margaret Hule, of Curwensville, attended the show at the Driggs Theatre last evening.

TUGGI PLEAD GUILTY TO MANSLAUGHTER IN COURT YESTERDAY

Angelo Tucci, the Curwensville boarding house proprietor, who was placed on trial Wednesday afternoon for complicity in the murder of Temistocle Cavaterra at Curwensville on December 6th last, brought the trial to a sudden end about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the attorneys for the defense arose and asked leave to withdraw their plea of not guilty and enter one of guilty to voluntary manslaughter. Tucci was charged with having supplied Pistilli with the revolver with which he killed Cavaterra and counseled the killing.

The jury was chosen and the Commonwealth's testimony about all in when the end came. The District Attorney offered the testimony of Pistilli at his trial as a part of the evidence against Tucci and the defense objected to its admission. It was admitted by Judge Bell's ruling and as that testimony clinched the case for the prosecution, the defense wilted and sought the best terms they could get.

COUNTY COMMITTEE OF AMERICAN LEGION MET HERE YESTERDAY

An important meeting of the County Committee of the American Legion was held yesterday afternoon here. Members of the Committee were in attendance from Clearfield, Curwensville, Osceola, Iriona and DuBois, as well as Athletic representatives from the several posts. Thomas Harrigan, of the DuBois Post, the County Athletic Director, was here and it was decided to start the base ball season on Saturday, June 19, and a schedule of twenty games will be drawn up next week. The matter of a County Convention was also taken up and it was decided that July 5, the day for celebrating the 4th this year, would be too large a day locally to get many men to go to one town. Clearfield asked for the convention during Fair Week in September.

SLASHER OF WARDENS DRAWS THREE TO SIX YEAR PRISON SENTENCE

Tony Cherillo, of Morristown, who was convicted of assault with intent to murder State Game Protector W. J. Davis, of Clearfield, was sentenced this morning by Judge Bell to pay a fine of $1,000, costs of prosecution and undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than three nor more than six years.

Judge Bell also directed District Attorney Arnold to notify the prison authorities of Cherillo's physical and mental failings in the past, in order that he may be carefully looked after.

Sentence in the cases of Clementi Pistilli and Angelo Tucci, convicted of the murder of Temistocle Cavaterra, will be imposed on June 21st.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED

Earl E. Bowes and Miss Gertrude Daugherty two of Clearfield's most popular young people surprised their many friends last evening by quietly slipping up to St. Francis parsonage, where the Rev. M. A. Ryan said the words which united them in the holy bonds of wedlock.

The attendants were Miss Ruth Daugherty sister of the bride and William Fehl.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a suit of dark blue serge, with hat to match, the bridesmaid also wore a dark blue suit. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Daugherty of Fourth street, and is a popular young lady, endowed with all necessary graces and virtues to fill the ideal home with happiness.

The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bowes, of Daisy street, and is a valued employee of the N. Y. C. R. R. Co.

Following the ceremony the happy couple motored to Tyrone, where they took a main line train to Philadelphia, New York and Atlantic City.

Upon their return they will go to their newly furnished home on Pine street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Easton Ross, are visiting with friends in Philadelphia.

MANY PUBLIC BUILDINGS IN KERRY COUNTY, IRELAND, BURNED YESTERDAY

LONDON, May 27—Burning of private and public buildings continued in various parts of Ireland last night. The coast guard station at Sybil in Kerry county, was destroyed. Castle Caulfield barracks in the same county was likewise destroyed by fire. Troops in Ireland are reported to be awaiting the arrival of supplies from Alder. The regiment is supplied with Lewis machine guns and was expected to reach their destination today or tomorrow. It was reported three other battalions were ready to proceed to Ireland under secret orders.

GENERAL FELIX DIAZ WILL GIVE UP TO REBELS FORCES AT VERA CRUZ

VERA CRUZ, May 28—General Felix Diaz has agreed to surrender his entire force to General Sanchez, rebel commander, according to reports received here today. General Diaz has asked for a guard or safe conduct to the city of Vera Cruz where he intends to sail for some foreign port, the report said. Business in Vera Cruz is brisk and apparently has felt little effect of the overthrow of the Carranza regime.

HARD LIQUOR WILL BE BANNED AT BIG G. O. P. CONVENTION

CHICAGO, May 27—The cider, grape juice, ginger ale and near beer beverages will flow during the G. O. P. national convention here beginning June 8, but the lid is on on hard liquor.

Government prohibition agents, aided by dry sleuths, were prepared today to censure closely what is drunk at the coming convention.

Reports that bell boys have formed a trust and agreed not to sell whiskey for less than $40 a pint have come to prohibition agents and the prospect of several of them getting jobs as bell hops was considered entirely probably to prevent any smuggling of liquor into guests' rooms.

Soft drink "bars" are expected to do a big business. What space hasn't been grabbed by politicians for a headquarters has been taken over for convention week by soft drink sellers and confectioners.

There is a plentiful supply of whiskey and beer in Chicago, but this is mostly sealed up by the government and can only be sold on physicians' prescriptions. But local Republicans say they have some to spare for a few drinks and it is hoped that Mayor William Hale Thompson, national committeeman from Illinois, may loosen the lid a little to allow delegates to have a good time.

Cabarets are to run full tilt during convention week. The old Tenderloin district, just south of the Coliseum, where the convention will be staged, is taking on new life and the notorious 22d street has opened several lively cabarets, with "drug stores" next door.

Here until the hours of five and six in the morning, men and girls can drink and shimmy without fearing interference.

Each state will have a reception headquarters for its delegation at one of the Michigan hotels which have been booked to full capacity for the entire week at the rate of from $20 a day up for each room.

Entire suites have been taken over by presidential candidates to entertain delegates and their wives. Convention week will be featured by scores of teas, dinners and dances. Regular shopping tours will be conducted for the benefit of the women visitors.

Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, has taken over the Florentine room at the Congress. Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood has the Gold room and Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, has the Elizabethan room.

Mayor Thompson intends to capitalize the situation in every way. He has secured the Pompeian room, at the entrance to the Congress hotel, and all visitors must pass his headquarters, which will be emphasized by signs and banners with Thompson's name on them.

Furthermore the mayor will fit his headquarters for the convenience of the delegates. Fleet of automobiles will be placed at their disposal and the hometown newspapers will be on file. Messengers and secretaries will be on hand to do personal service for delegates.

The disciples of Swat who journeyed to the Liberty theatre last evening to witness the boxing show put on by Manager Jack Wise, were treated to a serio-comic episode or two which detracted somewhat from the disappointment felt when it was learned that the "big guns" on the program had lain down on the promoter at the last moment and failed to appear.

The only regular feature to be presented as scheduled was the "Grim Brothers, of Harrisburg. The kids went four fast rounds and pleased everybody with their work.

For the next preliminary only one of the principals showed up. He was a young lad named Buckley from Vintondale. His partner from Altona couldn't dig up train fare—boring is poor just now in Altona. It was a sad thing for poor Buckley that the other fellow failed to show up because Promoter Wise induced Kid Henderson the local boy to take on Buckley. The bout lasted almost three rounds the local whirlwind putting his Cambria county opponent to sleep with a left swing to the jaw just before the close of that round.

The main bout of the evening was scheduled between Ike Griffin, the "colored thunderbolt" of Clearfield and "One Round" Inlow of Altoona. "One Round" ran true to form and his name, and was put down four times by Ike's pile-drivers before the round was half over. When the decrepit old fellow hit the plank after the last punch Chief of Police Eadie at the request of the local Humane society, on the principle that "Inwrong" might have been a good "old boss" at one time, even though he made just part of a horse of himself by attempting to put up a contest in a boxing match, climbed into the ring and ended the unequal match.

The spectators decided "Inwrong" was in pickle or "pickled," but that gentleman protested that he was drier than a "kivered bridge" and requested that the ring-side physician test or "sound" him for alcoholic stimulants. The man of medicine forced a broom handle down his throat and as it came up without having any of the varnish removed, "Inwrong" was given a certificate as to his total and absolute sobriety. He was some scrappier—but not much, but was a real nice old man.

ADD FIGHT In discussing the bout after the police had pulled him off, Ike said, "Huh! Man! you don't want to put no fellow traveling Inlow; I've done traveling 'in high,' I is, and I've gone some, too." He was, at that.

Prompter Wise was on the level and tried to get a good show and give everybody a run for their money but the Fakes were against him.

FINISH WRESTLING BOUT Leslie Roberts, champion wrestler of Central Pennsylvania, will meet Pete Brown, Police Gazette Champion to a finish wrestling match at nine o'clock Saturday night at Smith's Greater Shows on the carnival grounds.

Miss Corinne Roth, of Curwensville, spent last evening with friends here.

The C. C. A. A. is about ready to spring a big surprise. A bangup baseball team has been signed up for this season and when the names are announced Clearfield baseball fans will feel assured of good baseball this summer.

The acquisition of a portion of the oval at the Driving Park by the Clearfield Public School Athletic Association is a step in the right direction. It is the one thing that was required to round out our public school equipment. Physical training and athletics are playing a greater part than ever in the development of our young people. We predict that whatever events are staged in the park by the public school kiddoes will be largely attended.

The malicious and thoughtless destruction of shade trees, lawns and flower beds along the streets of the borough has given property owners a great deal of worry in the last year or two and every citizen should lend his efforts to the prosecution of the first fellow who oversteps the bounds of propriety. If you see property being destroyed, report it to the owner or the police immediately. It is the only way the pernicious practice can be broken up.

More delegates will sit in the Democratic national convention than at the Republican conclave in Chicago. That is due to the fact that the Democrats permit delegates from southern states to be larger than Republican delegations are. Also the Democrats allow Alaska and our insular possessions to have six delegates each, as compared to three admitted by the Republicans. At Chicago there will be 981 delegates and at San Francisco 1092. By the majority Republican rule 493 are necessary to a choice; by the two-thirds rule the Democrats require 728.

That unanimity of purpose so much desired and long sought for in religious work seems to have been set back somewhat by the withdrawal of the Presbyterian denomination from the active affairs of the Interchurch World Movement. We regret to see this step taken and yet it appears to have been necessary for someone to bring the national leaders of the movement to their senses. The Interchurch World Movement was launched with a lavish expenditure of money, a la circus style, and seems to have been conducted by the same methods ever since. While from a denominational standpoint the withdrawal of the Presbyterians from the movement was because of the "preferential" attitude to another denomination, this in itself would not be sufficient cause. Underlying this was the extravagance of the leaders and the methods they employed to bring their cause before the public. The movement was intended to awaken all peoples to a sense of appreciation of the church and its workers, enlist their support in a bigger, broader religious program and advance the gospel. In the abstract, it was purely a case of publicity and nothing else. The first move of the leaders was to have thousands of tons of "boiler plate" news prepared for the newspapers to print "free" although the publicity agents hired received immense sums for writing it. Ninety per cent. of the publicity was not information or even interesting but purely bunk which would have been superfluous to the present day newspaper column yet good money was paid for it. The leaders presumed on the ability of the small newspaper to print all of it "free." They had their local agents call on us with the request that we print it "free."

Newspapers are always willing to help in any good cause and never lose an opportunity to do so but a newspaper must have the use of its own columns to sell. They will always meet any proposition more than half way but the Interchurch World Movement has already been the most expensive proposition the newspapers ever tried to boost.

The old time merchant used to give a pair of suspenders with a new suit and was willing to do it. The Interchurch World Movement tried to get the suit by the purchase of a pair of suspenders.

Send In That Red Envelope NOWYour Hard Working Heart

By Lee H. Smith, M. D.

The heart is a wonderful double pump, through the action of which the blood stream is kept sweeping round and round through the body, at the rate of seven miles an hour.

A healthy stomach turns the food we eat into nourishment for the blood stream and the nerves. No one suffers from colds or catarrh who has plenty of red blood corpuscles and a good digestion. Catarrh in all its forms is a stagnation of the blood. Introduce pure red blood into the system, and health is assured. Dr. Pierce, over fifty years ago, gave to the public an alternative and blood tonic which he named his "Golden Medical Discovery." It is sold by all druggists the world over in tablets or liquid, and is just the thing to put the body in the best of condition. It is a tonic, alternative and nerve, which contains no alcohol, and has the ingredients printed on the label. "Golden Medical Discovery" assists the digestive functions, assimilating the food and taking from it what is necessary for feeding the blood. Thus the blood takes on a new vigor and vitality. This corrective remedy nature put in the forest for keeping us healthy. One feels strong, vigorous and full of pep, instead of weak, nervous and "played out." Send 10c for trial pkg. of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., or, send for a free medical booklet on any disease or free medical advice.

LESSON FOR MAY 30

JONATHAN AND HIS ARMOR-BEARER.

LESSON TEXT—I Sam. 14:1-46.
GOLDEN TEXT—For the promise is unto you and your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.—Acts 2:39.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—I Sam. 13:1-23.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Story of a Brave Prince.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How Two Men Put an Army to Flight.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Our Foes and How to Overcome Them.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Value of Initiative in Christian Work.

I. Israel's Reduced Condition (vv. 1-3).

The Philistine oppression had become so terrible that the king had only about 400 men, and they were completely disarmed, except that Saul and Jonathan had each a sword and spear. Lest the Israelites should make unto themselves swords and spears the Philistines took from them their smiths; they only left them a file to sharpen their instruments of husbandry. This left them under the necessity of going to the Philistines to have their tools sharpened. Saul himself was in hiding. Because he had presumptuously intruded into the priest's office God rejected him. While in this desperate condition God moved Jonathan to go against the Philistines.

II. Description of the Passageway Between Israel and the Philistines (vv. 4, 5).

Over against the way which Jonathan and his armorbearer had to traverse, on either side lay sharp rocks called Bozez and Sennah. The opposing camps were probably three miles apart. It required great effort to scale the cliff. The feat of Jonathan and his armorbearer was one of the most daring ever attempted.

III. Jonathan's Resolution to Go Against the Philistines (vv. 6-10).

1. Jonathan's summons to the young man (v. 6). Here the thought of verse one is resumed, verses two to five being parenthetical. Jonathan did not doubt but that the Lord was leading him. He recognized his covenant relationship with God, and therefore his claim upon him as against the uncircumcised Philistines, asserting that "there is no restraint to the Lord to save by many or by few." God is all-powerful, so with him numbers cut no figure. Whatever he wills for us he can do. One with God is a majority. (Deut. 32:39).

2. The noble response of his armorbearer (v. 7). He was actuated by the same faith and courage as Jonathan and entered heartily into the undertaking. When two agree together as touching anything in the name of Christ it shall be done (Matt. 18:19, 20).

3. Watching for the will of God (vv. 8-10). Doubtless the same Spirit who had moved Jonathan to go had instructed him to watch for the Divine leading. The sign that God would deliver the Philistines into their hands was the invitation for Jonathan and his companion to come up to the Philistines. They did not go forward until the sign of divine leading was given.

IV. Jonathan's Marvelous Victory (vv. 11-16).

Being assured of the divine leading, Jonathan with his armorbearer sprang forward saying that the Lord had delivered the enemy into the hands of Israel. He did not say "into our hands," but "into the hands of Israel." This is a fine touch of humility; it shows that it was zeal for God, not selfish ambition that impelled him to go forth. God interposed by a great earthquake, causing consternation among the Philistines, moving them to destroy each other.

V. Saul's Foolish Behavior (vv. 17-46).

1. His cruel zeal (vv. 17-23). After the Lord had given the victory at the hands of Jonathan, Saul called for the ark of God to be brought, after which he went forth in pursuit of the enemy who had already been routed.

2. His foolish obligation imposed (vv. 24-30). It was that a curse would be upon any one of his soldiers who should stop to eat on that day. Fast-ing is proper at times, but it was the height of folly to demand strenuous service of his soldiers without the necessary nourishment.

3. His determination to kill Jonathan. Jonathan not having heard this rash oath, partook of the honey as he passed through the woods and was greatly refreshed. When this was reported to Saul he was about to take the life of his own son, who had so gloriously wrought in the deliverance of his people.

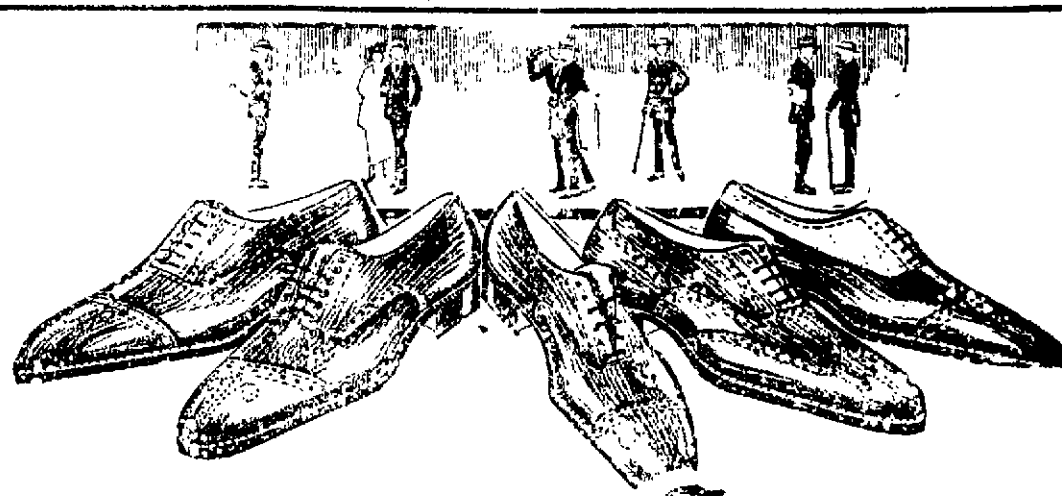

Evidence of Things Unseen.
No pure and simple life, true to itself, true to its maker, was ever lived on this earth that was not a voice on God's behalf, however still and small and that did not, in its sincere and humble way, declare a hope and reveal a faith which might well be the evidence of things unseen.—Alexander Gordon.

Doing Evil Deeds.
The disposition to do an evil deed is of itself a terrible punishment of the deed it does.—C. M. H. May.

Miss Jessie Banta entertained her friends last evening in honor of her cousin, Miss Gladys Matthews, of Chicago.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM WARING

William Waring, who died at his home in Plymouthville on Saturday, May 22, 1920, was the son of the late Samuel and Susan Shimmel Waring, pioneer settlers of the Morris township section of Clearfield county. He was born at Morrisdale in May, 1834, and was therefore 86 years of age at the time of his death. He resided on the old Waring homestead at Morrisdale until 1906, when he brought his family to Clearfield, and had since resided here.

He was an industrious man and a good citizen in every sense of the word. About two years ago he had the misfortune to fracture one of his legs at up to that time had enjoyed the best of rugged health. Death was due to the combined troubles incident to old age.

During the past winter Mr. Waring acted as a court tip-staff. He enjoyed his respect and esteem of a large circle of friends in this section, and while a resident of Morris, was called upon to serve in the different offices of trust and responsibility in the township. He discharged every obligation with that honesty and carefulness which marked all his transactions and is properly described as an honest man.

He was married to Margaret Williams, daughter of Jesse and Sara Williams, of Centre county, and to his union was born eight children, five of whom died in infancy. He is survived by his widow and three daughters, viz: Lillian V., wife of Rev. M. O. Watt, of Mars, Pa.; Nancy B., wife of Harry Bunnell, of Clearfield; and Mrs. Martha Rowles, of Olanta. A son, Jesse F. Waring, was killed in a railroad accident in 1909, and George W., another son, was accidentally shot at Broughton, Pa. in 1917. Two brothers and one sister also survive him. They are Deane H. of Morrisdale; John, of Hagon; and Mrs. Elizabeth Sullivan, of Morrisdale.

The funeral occurred from his home on May 26, interment being made in it, Joy cemetery.

ARMY RECRUITING OFFICER HERE

Sergeant Victor L. Allen, an U. S. army recruiting officer from Tyrone, Pa., in Clearfield yesterday on business for Uncle Sam's army. Sergeant Allen is running a "trouble" or "recruiting" station at Tyrone, Pa., as he styles it, a "kick" station.

This "kick bureau" is so styled from the fact that Sergeant Allen is been directed by the War Department to collect and receive "kicks" from former service men, and he has already handled quite a number of complaints.

Any former service man who has received his $30 discharge bonus, we sent a mile return fire a "kick" on his mark, had his insurance or liberty bond looked after, or any other trouble that needs rectifying, can have everything smoothed out by writing or calling on Sergeant Allen at the First National Bank Building, Tyrone.

He is also securing one year enlistments for the engineers, air service, cavalry and coast artillery.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A large number of the friends of Mrs. M. S. Thompson tendered that lady a very pleasant birthday party at her home on Pine street yesterday afternoon and evening. The day was most pleasantly spent and delicious refreshments enjoyed.

The out-of-town guests were: Mrs. James Derrick and son, of Kent, Ohio, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Murray on Ogden avenue.

Makes Hard Work EASY

Mechanics Perfected This Hammer

MECHANICS everywhere are talking about the Plumb Ball Pein-Hammer. In daily service in countless shops thousands of these hammers are showing their superiority. This hammer was made for mechanics by mechanics.

To perfect the design of this Plumb Hammer, from the standpoint of the user, models were sent to mechanics in railroad and machine shops—in locomotive works—everywhere that hammers could be tested in the most exacting way.

Machinists' Suggestions

One mechanic suggested the "Off centre" head with the weight in a chunk right back of the broad striking face—to give accuracy and force to the blow.

Another mechanic pointed out the ball should be cone shaped to spread a rivet and not mash it. A third suggested an oblong "eye" to enable a wider and stronger handle. A fourth made it plain that a longer eye would give greater "purchase" and would strengthen the tool at its weakest point, viz., the "eye," while a fifth advised the "taper" in the handle away from the thick stock in the eye to give "spring" to take up the jar and the further comfort grip with "swell" in the end of the handle to make the handle rest naturally and easily in the hand and so make hard work easy.

There are actual facts connected with the "Double Life" quality of Plumb Tools—these are the solid basis for every good workman's saving about Plumb Tools—"They're worth more."

We sell the full line of Plumb Tools, Hammers, Hatchets, Axes and Sledges.

Was Old Rufus Gaston the master mind? Where was he?

CHAPTER XI.

Fortunately for me, there had recently been a wave of public criticism of the courts for the long delays in bringing criminal cases to trial, and the district attorney was moving with all celerity to bring my case to a conclusion. An indictment against me for the murder of Daisy Lutan had been quickly found and the date had been already set for the trial—one week hence—so that the period of my incarceration and doubt as to my ultimate fate seemed likely to be very brief.

Utterly absurd as the situation was, accused of murdering a woman whom I never had seen and hardly had heard of until I saw her lying dead in her apartments, conscious as I was of my entire innocence in the matter, still, as in the solitude of my cell I reviewed the case, I found myself facing the ordeal of a trial for murder with considerable apprehension.

Circumstances certainly looked much against me. There was absolutely no way in which I could refute the testimony of the two detectives that they had found the revolver with one chamber discharged in the drawer of my dresser. I myself had seen them find it. While McGraw still held that there was a possibility that they themselves had put it there, I knew that neither of them had been near the dresser after I had admitted them to my rooms. The only person whom I had the slightest ground for suspecting was Claire Bradford, yet what motive could she have had?

Wick undoubtedly would testify that he had met me at the door of the Lutan apartment directly after he had heard the shot. He might say that I appeared to be greatly excited. This would be the exact truth. There was even the possibility that he might swear that he had found me coming out of Miss Lutan's apartment. Even if he did not make the statement direct, shrewd questioning on the part of the district attorney could easily make it appear that I had just left the Lutan apartment. How could we possibly controvert his testimony?

Then, in addition, there were the damning statements that would be offered by Nellie Kelly. She would swear that the evening before I had taken her out to dinner and had been questioning her about the other tenants in the house. Even though we knew that she was a fool of Wick and was the wife of Lefty Moore, the burglar, unless Gorman was able to discover that she herself had a criminal record, it seemed utterly hopeless to attempt to controvert her statements.

It would also militate against me that at the time of the murder I was out of a job and almost without funds. They were likely, too, to bring out the fact that I had been discreditably discharged from the only position I had held in New York. The only man who knew anything about the matter, Mr. Wood, the head of the firm, had been suddenly called to France in connection with an order for munitions, and was not expected to return for several months. The fact would weigh against me, too, that I would be unable to offer the testimony of any character witnesses. Birge and Butler, my classmates with whom I had roomed ever since I had come to New York, were "somewhere in France" with the American troops and could not possibly aid me.

All of this was pointed out to me by John McGregor, a young attorney whom Gorman had employed for me. While Gorman and I had, I think, succeeded in convincing him of my innocence, the fact that he was continually citing the difficulties in the way of our proving it made me realize that he was very dubious as to the outcome.

The trouble was that we were absolutely without witnesses. Old Rufus Gaston's whereabouts still remained a mystery. If we could discover him in time, we could at least explain satisfactorily my presence in the Grand-dock and could establish that I was not the homeless, penniless vagrant they would try to prove me. The longer old Rufus remained in hiding, the stronger became my suspicion that he might be in some way involved in the plot. His action in keeping his address a secret from me seemed to have been with deliberate intent.

After some discussion Gorman and I had agreed not to mention either of the Bradford girls.

"If one word about either of them slips out in court," said Gorman, "they'll be in for it. The papers will jump to it and print their pictures and all that. We'd better leave them out of it."

With this I heartily concurred. I was determined that Barbara Bradford must be in no way involved, come what may. I knew that she herself would be apt to be restrained from attempting to communicate with me by the fact that her sister's marriage was set for the day after tomorrow. Her loyalty to her family was such that she would not risk scandal by trying to aid me, at least not the future for Claire and her mother assured.

Two small rays of sunshine lightened the gloom of my cell—the fact that the newspaper mention of the tragedy seemed thus a ray to have escaped my mother's notice and the fact that Barbara still believed in my innocence and trusted me absolutely.

A day or two after my arrest Gorman had managed to see her and had told her that it was my wish that she keep entirely quiet her knowledge of the affair and that she should make no attempt whatever to communicate with me while I was in prison. He had brought back with him a hastily penciled note which often in my cell I read and re-read:

"Dear Mr. Nelson:
"I'm so sorry to hear of your trouble and the absurd charges against you. I'll do whatever you wish, of course. I trust you absolutely. If anything I can tell will aid you at any time, I am ready to speak—cost what it may. I know you are innocent and must soon be freed. Hoping to see you,
"With all confidence,
"B. B."

Each time I read anew the penciled lines, my heart rejoiced. "Come what may, I felt sure that Barbara's heart was mine. I joyed to know that come out of prison to her though I might, she would be glad to see me. Joyfully would I have gone to the electric chair rather than have her fair name in the least smirched by scandal in trying to defend me. She alone could prove an alibi for me, but no one must ever know it.

What would a scandal-loving world say if the fact became public that she had been alone with me in my apartment near midnight? If only by the sacrifice of her good name could I go free, then let me stay in my cell. Let me even go to the electric chair. I would not have my life at the loss of my beloved's reputation.

One other thing I had kept from my lawyer—my discovery of the passage-way between the walls in my great-uncle's apartment. If I could not get Gorman to believe in this secret passage, which I was convinced had some connection with the mysteries and the whisperings at the Granddock, there was little likelihood that McGregor would believe my tale either. Given one single hour in my quarters at the Granddock and I would have discovered whether it led and who used it, but once a man is charged with murder, his hands are tied. It was futile for me to mention it again, even to the detective or to my lawyer, until such time as I could show it to them and convince them that I knew what I was talking about.

While I was debating the situation in my cell, a keeper opened the door. "You're wanted downstairs," he announced.

"What is it?" I asked, wonderingly. "You've got a visitor."

"Who?" I questioned eagerly. Could it, I wondered, be Barbara? Had my sternly repressed longing to see her in some way communicated itself to her through the ether and impelled her to throw caution to the winds and come to the prison to see me?

"I don't know," the keeper answered. "It's a man. I don't know who he is."

A man. Who could it be? In all the monotonous time I had been behind the bars, only two men had come to see me, Gorman and McGregor. It could not be either of them, for both were well known to the prison attendants. As I hastened down the long corridor past the dismal row of barred doors, I was revolving in my mind the possibilities of my caller's identity.

Who could it be? Spurred on by my curiosity, I hastened into the counsel room. There sat my great-uncle Rufus.

He looked in much better physical condition than when I had last seen him, more vigorous and healthier. His skin was browned from exposure to the sun and wind, and his eyes were

PRESBYTERIANS ARE NOT IN SYMPATHY WITH INTERCHURCH

Acting upon a plan submitted by its executive commission the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America meeting in the Academy of Music, yesterday voted to terminate its relationship with the Interchurch World Movement, declined to incur any further financial obligation for the Interchurch World Movement as now organized and controlled and withdrew its representation.

The General Assembly authorized the executive commission to "take immediate steps" to provide for the payment by the Presbyterian church of the amount underwritten by the new era committee—approximately $1,000,000—and to give official notice to the Interchurch World Movement, the new era committee and the boards and agencies of the church of this action.

$100,000 Given to Movement

In order to soften the harshness of the withdrawal, and to give the Interchurch World Movement, an opportunity to recuperate, the assembly voted to contribute to the Interchurch "when properly organized," the sum of $100,000 in quarterly installments during the year 1920-1921 to be used for the payment of its expenses and for no other purpose. The $100,000 is not to be paid until the Interchurch Movement "has been organized so as to insure an efficient and economical administration of its affairs," and not until it adopts a budget for 1920-21 of $1,000,000, or less, exclusive of interest charges.

Following the great debate last Tuesday, when opposition to the Executive Commission's plan to withdraw from the Interchurch compelled the commission to reconsider and present a new plan, the commission brought in two plans yesterday, known as plan A, and plan B, to deal with the situation. Plan A provided for the withdrawal of the Presbyterian church without any prospect being offered of coming in again. Plan B, which was adopted, provides that the Presbyterian church will continue relations with the Interchurch, upon a restricted scale, providing the Interchurch assents to a satisfactory reorganization of its governing board and a gigantic cut in its expenditures.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

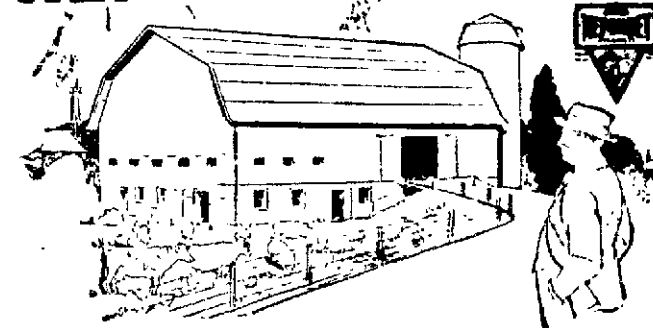

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns leaves behind incombustible ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins, and ptomaine-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before breakfast each morning drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the bowels the previous day's poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, or who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, borborygmi, rheumatic stiffness or have a sour, gassy stomach each after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Take Salts To Flush Kidneys

Eat less meat if you feel Backache or Bladder troubles you—Salts is fine for kidneys

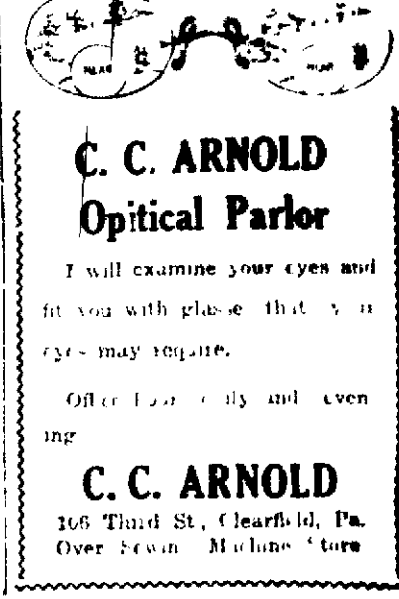

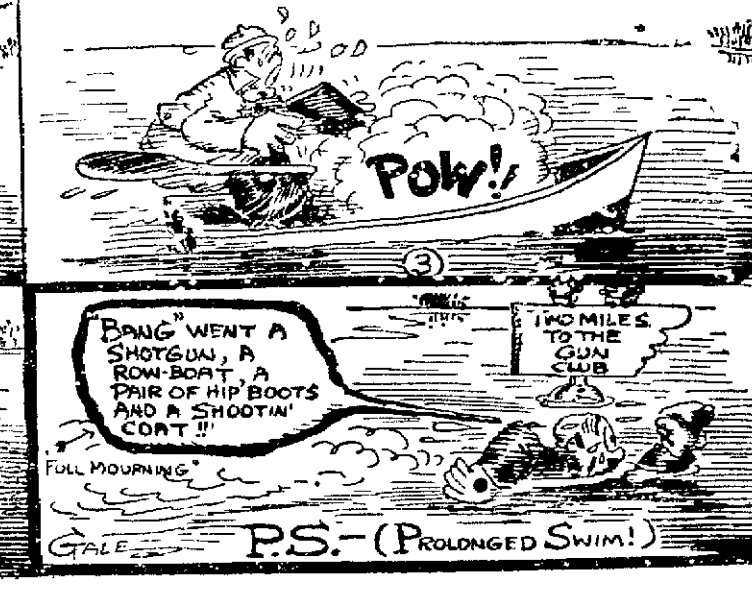

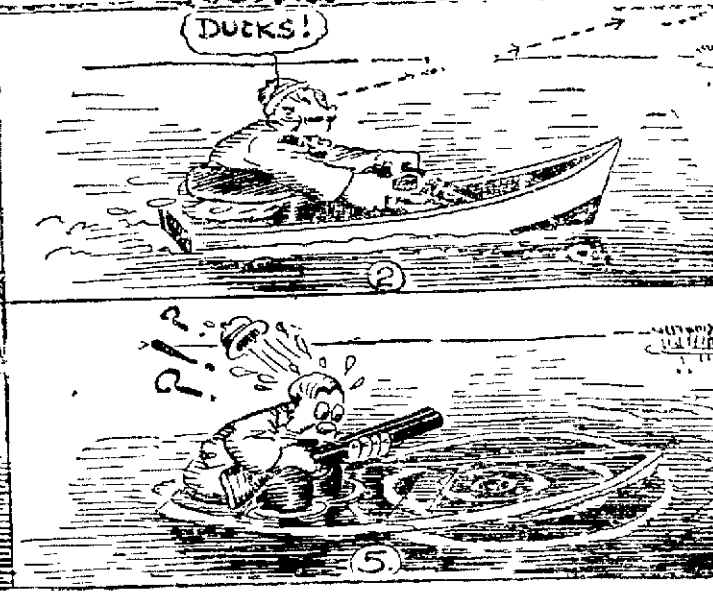

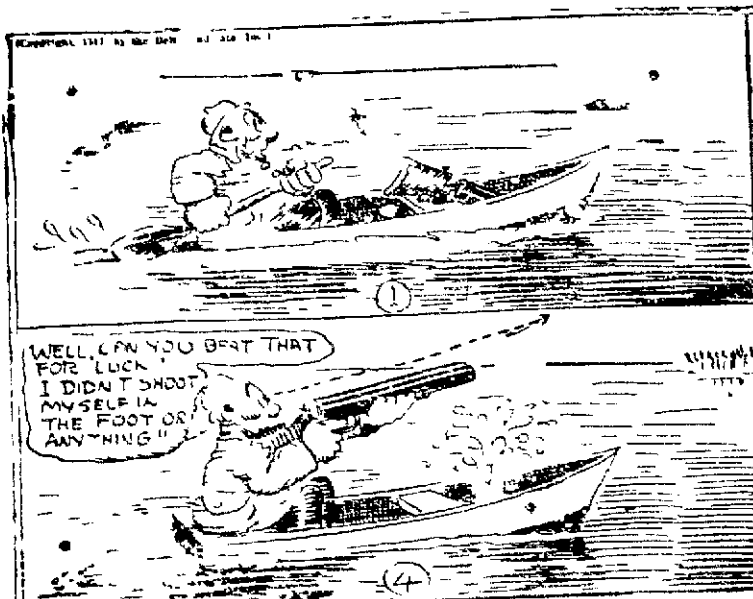

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eating of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels removing all the acids, waste, and poison else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste eat about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. These famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidney and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salt is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then thus insuring serious kidney and bladder diseases.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with a comb and the effect was wonderful. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it is so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.
